Dear Theater Professional:

Andrea Andresakis directed three Gilbert and Sullivan shows for The Troupers Light Opera Company between 2004 and 2007: The Sorcerer, Iolanthe and Princess Ida. Characters and story came alive under Andrea's creative direction, choreography and scene development. Her understanding and interpretation of Gilbert's words and jokes clearly made each show fun for sophisticated Fairfield County audiences of all ages and the cast. Her use of children in these productions added a special charm.

I found Andrea to be hard working, thoughtful and ethical. She knows what she wants to create and has the ability to rely on others to develop it, but, is not closed to a competing point of view.

If you are considering Andrea for your production, she will not disappoint. As a member of Troupers' Board of Directors, it was my pleasure and great learning experience to work closely under her direction as a performer and props mistress, gathering and fabricating props for two of her shows.

Sincerely,

Ruth-Anne Ring
